GONNA BE ALL RIGHT

After starting the Fall East Coast tour in Richmond Va at a torrid pace (Playing/Crazy Fingers/Truckin'/Spoonful), the DEAD played two legendary shows in NYC. On Tues it was St Stephen for the first time in the 80's. On Wed, a tremendous jam marked the juxtaposition of Cassidy/Cumberland in the first set. All the band played aggressively, Phil even joining in the singing on Stephen & Cold Rain. But the band saved the best for last - the Beatles' Revolution as an encore, with Jerry Garcia smiling through the chorus, "don'tcha know it's gonna be all right."
