Letter From The Editors

Hey now! How are y'all doin'? We're on the road again. Has everyone been having a nice spring? We have. Our second mailer issue just went out, and for those of you who aren't yet subscribers, we've gotten some really nice feedback. Why not check it out. See what you've been missing.

Issue #2 which just went out (a little late), was mainly on the East Coast Tour. However, we've added some new, on-going areas, such as Flashback (favorite shows from the past), Fun & Games, Next Issue News, and We Are Everywhere (photo display). In addition to these, we have some very interesting articles on art, music and life. And if all this isn't good enough yet, just wait for Issue #3. You're missing a lot if you don't "tune in."

And YOU can participate too, with your favorite stories, photos, original puzzles or cartoons, original artwork or poetry. If you have something to say, maybe this is your chance. We're always looking for some good writers to help with show reviews, too. Be in touch.
J, L & S

SUBSCRIBE!!!

Now you can receive six issues by mail of DUPREE'S DIAMOND NEWS for $10. Our expanded issues include more news, more in-depth song/concert analysis, and more reviews, than our free issues. As a subscriber, you also get one free tape trade ad or related want ad. (Please keep your ad to 25 words! All ads must accompany subscription. No ad-credit can be given.) Keep up on the latest band and tour news, and much more.

Send your printed ad with your check or money order made payable to: Dupree's Diamond News and mail to us at:

We have received some complaints because our unconfirmed dates have been changing. This is because we keep trying to keep you as up-to-date as we can on possible tour plans. Only plan on the confirmed dates, those announced by the GD office. For information on shows, tickets and sale dates, please call the GD hotline numbers on the other side of this page. However, do not call them asking about specific dates for shows you have seen here. This takes up precious time and creates ill-will for us. They will announce dates when they're ready and able.

Thank you.

DDN NOTES

Deadheads who chose to camp out during the recent shows held at Laguna Seca Raceway in Monterey, California, were treated to a special twilight filming of the first-ever Grateful Dead music video, "Touch Of Grey."

The video shoot, which lasted about 5 hours on a foggy Saturday night, included incredible life-sized skeleton puppets of the band, lipsyncing what will be their first single in seven years. The puppets were later replaced by the real band members in what turned out to be a real special event for the two thousand or so deadheads in attendance.... Watch out MTV!

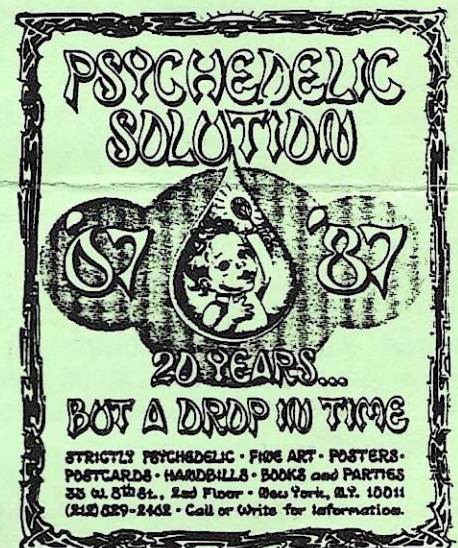

The Jerry Garcia Band played 2 shows at The Stone, San Francisco. They played the following: May 27, 1987: How Sweet It Is, They Love Each Other, Forever Young, Run For The Roses, Stoned Me, My Brothers & Sisters, Deal; The Harder They Come, Simple Twist Of Fate, Evangeline, Knockin' On Heavens Door, Think, The Lucky Old Sun, Tangled Up In Blue.

May 28, 1987: Cats Down Under The Stars, Mission In The Rain, Think, Let It Rock, The Night They Drove Old Dixie Down, Tangled Up In Blue; I'll Take A Melody, Stop That Train, I Shall Be Released, Love In The Afternoon, Crazy Love, The Lucky Old Sun, Midnight Moonlight.

*(Special thanks to Jimbo Juanis for both these pieces of news.)*

Hot Tuna, you remember them, after playing really well on the West coast, came back East to those who love them and played at The Stoned Pony in New Jersey. And, they were great - crisp and clear. Let's hope they can hold it together for a while!

Unless you've just returned from Mars, you know that The Boys are teaming up with Dylan. But have you heard that Jerry has been dusting off his pedal steel and banjo? Well we have, and can't wait for the shows!
